For more than one hundred years the Dutruy family has grown wine in the village of Founex where they established the estate of "la Treille". Today the Dutruy brothers manage all the wines produced from different grape varieties of two estates: the family estate in Founex and the estate of "la Doye" in Coppet. The Dutruy wines have won multiple awards, in particular they have created a range of exceptional wines called "Les Romaines" (the Romans). These wines are produced from a selection of grapes from the best vineyards.
