This estate is on the outskirts of the wine-growing village of Fläsch, in the Rhine valley at Grisons. In the middle of the vineyard is an intriguing collection of buildings: the Gantenbein cellar. At this estate we know that the vines are the key to success, and that it is essential to monitor the quality of the grapes from the vine to the bottle, and organise production around this. Another unique feature is that the wines in this estate are only available through an exclusive network of distributors throughout the world.
