The Estate of Croix Duplex was acquired in 1929 by Samuel Vogel. It is a family run business, now in its third generation with the sister and brother Maude and Simon Vogel. Since the 50s, the estate has increased tenfold now cultivating a large range grapes. The Chasselas and Pinot Noir grapes come in many wines from different terroirs of the area that extends from the Lavaux, North of Vaud, the shores of Lake Neuchâtel, the Chablais and even Valais. While the estate is known for its white wines in particular the "Fleurettes Grandvaux", a blend of white developed by the founder, it also produces a wide range of red wines.
